

Language Analysis: Focus in the Digital Age

Key Vocabulary & Collocations (Intermediate → Advanced)

- Attention span – the length of time someone can concentrate on a task.
Example: Social media has shortened people's attention span.
Uzbek: diqqat davomiyligi
- External distractions – outside factors that interrupt focus.
Example: Notifications are common external distractions.
Uzbek: tashqi chalg'ituvchilar
- Switch cost – the mental effort required to refocus after interruption.
Example: Multitasking increases switch cost.
Uzbek: diqqatni qayta tiklash xarajati
- Hinder productivity – reduce efficiency or output.
Example: Constant emails hinder productivity.
Uzbek: samaradorlikka to'sqinlik qilmoq
- Self-interrupt – stop one's own task voluntarily.
Example: People often self-interrupt to check phones.
Uzbek: o'zini chalg'itmoq
- Spike in stress levels – sudden increase in stress.
Example: Interruptions cause spikes in stress.
Uzbek: stress darajasining keskin oshishi
- Limited attentional capacity – restricted ability to focus for long periods.
Uzbek: cheklangan diqqat sig'imi
- Rote activity – simple repetitive task.
Example: Knitting is a rote activity.
Uzbek: mexanik faoliyat
- Divergent thinking – ability to generate creative ideas.
Uzbek: divergent fikrlash
- Strike a balance – manage opposing demands.
Uzbek: muvozanatni topmoq
- Digital overload – excessive exposure to digital input.
Uzbek: raqamli haddan oshish
- Cognitive fatigue – mental tiredness.
Uzbek: kognitiv charchoq
- Mindful break – intentional rest period.
Uzbek: ongli tanaffus
- Behavioral habit – repeated automatic action.
Uzbek: xulq-atvor odati
- Forethought – thinking about future consequences.
Uzbek: oldindan o'ylash
- Notification burden – pressure caused by constant alerts.
Uzbek: bildirishnoma bosimi
- Workplace distraction – interruption in professional settings.
Uzbek: ish joyidagi chalg'itish
- Mental recovery – restoration of focus.
Uzbek: aqliy tiklanish

- Right to disconnect – legal protection from after-hours work contact.
Uzbek: aloqani uzish huquqi
- On a societal level – affecting society as a whole.
Uzbek: jamiyat darajasida
- Back on the clock – returning to work.
Uzbek: ishga qaytish
- Task switching – moving between tasks.
Uzbek: vazifa almashish
- Productivity decline – reduction in output.
Uzbek: samaradorlik pasayishi
- Cognitive control – ability to regulate attention.
Uzbek: diqqatni boshqarish
- Mental bandwidth – available cognitive resources.
Uzbek: aqliy sig'im
- Digital temptation – urge to use devices.
Uzbek: raqamli vasvasa
- Focus erosion – gradual loss of concentration.
Uzbek: diqqat yemirilishi
- Work-life boundary – separation between job and personal life.
Uzbek: ish-hayot chegarasi
- Proactive strategy – planned preventive action.
Uzbek: oldindan rejalashtirilgan strategiya

Grammar & Sentence Structures (Academic Focus)

- Cause–effect with 'because' – Technology disrupts focus because it offers constant stimulation.
- Comparative structure – Focus today is weaker than it was in the past.
- Passive voice – Stress levels were measured during the experiment.
- Conditional type 1 – If interruptions continue, productivity will decline.
- Gerund as subject – Multitasking increases cognitive load.
- Relative clause – Workers who take breaks perform better.
- Time contrast – In 2004..., whereas in 2022...
- Modal verb (necessity) – Employees must manage distractions.
- Purpose clause – Breaks are taken so that focus can be restored.
- Abstract noun phrases – The erosion of attention is a modern issue.